NOTICE TO ODELL BY JEROME

IF YOU PARDON WELLER OFF-HAND PLL TRY HIM AGAIN.

And I'll Keep on Trying Him Until You Are Sick of Pardoning Him-Newburgh Friendships and the Summerfield Gang-No Syndicate Miller Pardon?

Assistant District Attorney Train was notified yesterday by Gov Odell's private secretary to go to Buffalo at once if he wanted to see the Governor in regard to the proposed pardoning of Frank S. Weller, who swindled persons by inducing them to buy comparatively worthless stock of the Horse Shoe Copper Mining Company. He was recently convicted before Justice Davis in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court of grand larceny in the first degree and sentenced to a year in State

Weller, who was a member of the Union League Club of Brooklyn, was one of the "Larry Summerfield gang," all of whom have been convicted except Summerfield, now a fugitive from justice. Weller is a sen of Allison Y. Weller of Newburgh. a former business partner of Gov. Odell' father. On Weller's trial, Gov Odell's brother, Hiram B. Odell, appeared as a witness to Weller's good character

Mr. Train left for Buffalo last night, bearing with him a letter to the Governor from District Attorney Jerome waying that the District Attorney assumed that in regard to Weller the Governor would follow the rules laid down by Gov. Flower in 1892. In case these rules were not being observed by those who are making the application for Mr. Weller's pardon, Mr. Jerome also assumed that the Governor would not entertain the proposition.

Mr Train was directed to notify Mr Jerome at once of the results of his interview with the Governor. Mr. Jerome went to Lakeville, Conn., yesterday, and Mr. Train will send his message there.

It is assumed in the District Attorney's office that the regular course of procedure is not being followed in this matter. The basis for this assumption is a call that was made on Monday upon Mr. Jerome by ex-Judge Brown and Prof. H. W. Harden of Columba University. They told Mr. Jerome that what they wanted to know was whether Mr. Jerome would or would not prosecute Weller on an indictment on which he has not yet beer tried, in case Gov. Odell should pardon him.

Mr. Jerome replied that if Weller is pardoned by Gov. Odell after regular proceedings, in which Justice Davis, before whom Weller was tried, is consulted, and the District Attorney's report on the case against Weller is obtained, he will not try Weller again.

"I will say to you, frankly," said Mr. Brown, "that it is not likely that the Governor will ask for your presentation of the case or your opinion. The young man's father was Gov. Odell's father's partner, and we believe that Gov. Cdell will pardon him out of friendship for his father."

"Then I tell you," said Mr. Jerome, "that if Weller is so pardoned by the Governor I will try him on the other pending indictment, indict him on the other complaints and keep trying him until the Governor is sick of pardoning him. Furthermore, I will talk freely with the press concerning the matter.

Mr. Jerome's callers were somewhat taken aback by his attitude and went away. Yesterday came the hurry call from Gov. Odell's private secretary to Mr. Train, who prosecuted Weller.

The complainant in the case upon which Weller was convicted was Julius Franke, a broker of 19 Whitehall street, who dropped $4,000 to the Summerfield gang in February, 1902, when the gang cleaned up $26,000 in the month. Weller was treasurer of the I. Qualey was president. With larry Summerfield, E. H. Clark, alias Carbonnell, and one "Baker Tom," they did a landoffice business in selling stock at very much more than it was worth. Qualey has pleaded guilty, and "Baker Tom" and Clark have been convicted. It was the part of Summerfield, "Baker Tom" and Clark to personate "sick engineers" who were supposed to own blocks of stock of the company which they would sell cheap and which Qualey and Weller would buy at a high price. Franke bought at $8 or $9 a share, but when he went to sell it to Qualey and Weller they refused to take the stock. George H. Effinger, a real estate broker, is the complainant on the still pending indictment against Weller Effinger bought 100 shares at $9 a snare from an "engineer" and got an option on 1.500 shares remaining. Effinger went to Weller and Qualey with his 100 shares and they bought the block at $14.50 a share and told Effinger to go out and get the remaining 1,500 shares, which they would buy at the same figure. He did, and then Qualey and Weller refused to ring

White & Major, Union Square umbrella makers, who lost $10,000, have also lodged a like complaint against Weller, upon which no indictment has yet been found.

While Wetter was a member of the Union League Club of Brooklyn he met ex-Postmaster Francis H. Wilson, who was induced to become a director of the Horseshoe Copper Mining Company, and who received 2,000 shares of the company's stock, valued at $1 a share, which he was to pay for out of the stock's own dividends.

Gov. Odell has been quoted this week as saying that he would not do anything for Syndicate Miller. District Attorney Jerome prevailed u pon Miller to testify against Bob Ammon by promising that he would try to get the Governor to pardon him or to commute his sentence, at the least. Assistant District Attorney Nott said that he could hardly believe that the Governor had announced such a stand in regard to Miller, who was convicted of the same crime as Weller.

Gov. Odell's private physician examined Miller at Sing Sing," said Mr. Nott, "and ordered him removed to Dannemora, because he was consumptive. Miller could not have been made to testify, and if he is not rewarded in some measure no convict will help the State in ten years. Miller gave up $60,000 more money, and his wife has lost the allowance made by Ammon. If nothing is done for Miller he will be persecuted by the other convicts when he returns to State prison, and, in fact, he will be punished for aiding the State."

WOMAN ROBBED IN CATHEDRAL. Man Who Knelt Beside Her Had Her Pocket-

ALLEGED BROKAW LOVE LETTERS

Mrs. Polilon Begins a Treatment of Publication by Instalments.

Mrs. Katharine Poillon, who has sued W Gould Brokaw for breach of promise, announces that she is going to publish his love letters in installments She handed out three letters yesterday which she says he wrote to her One of them begins with the words of disputed authenticity, "My own dearest wife to be," and reads as follows:

own dearest wife to be, "and reads as follows:

North Islesboro, Aug. 29, 1902.

My Own Dearest Wife to Be: Your dear, sweet letter was received, and I was so glad to hear from you once more. It seems years since I left New York, though it is only a few days. Now don't forget to keep your promise to me to write every day, and it won't be long before I will be with you again. You take good care of your health, for you know that you and Lottie must join the party I am getting up to meet the yacht and sail back to New York after the races. I am glad to be here, but could not go before; there has been such a fog. We leave to-day. Address your letter to the New York Yacht Club, Newport, as that will be the next address, and, above all things, don't forget to write every day, for if you don't I will think you are ill and will give up the cruise and come home. Write every day, for I will be anxious about you.

Well, I must close, for I want to get this off in the next mail. So, with all my leve and a thousand kisses and hugs, from your own.

Billey.

Mrs. Poillon's counsel says he will sub-own, BILLY.

Mrs. Poillon's counsel says he will subpena for comparison of handwriting a letter which he says Brokaw wrote, addressed to Mrs. George W. Lederer and which is now in file in the County Clerk's offices in proceedings begun by Mr. Lederer and still pending for a writ of habeas corpus to obtain possession of his child Mairand still pending for a writ of habeas corpus to obtain possession of his child Maitland Lederer. This letter, counsel says, was sent to Lederer's house at 142 West Seventy-seventh street while Mr. and Mrs. Lederer were out of town. Mrs. Lederer senior was at the house and opened the letter by mistake. It was written on heavy magenta colored paper with an elaborately engraved crest in silver. It also bore the engraved crest in silver. It also bore the address of the Brokaw house, 825 Fifth avenue, in silver. The letter read:

DEAR JACK: Have just returned to town and am very anxious to see you. Meet met the Savov to-morrow, or if that is too public at the old place, No. 45.

WOMEN GROSSLY INSULTED. Police Catch a Man Who Accosted Mrs Shaifer on the Street.

Many women in Harlem have complained ecently of having been insulted by a welldressed young man. On Wednesday night Policeman Palmer while searching for this man heard the screams of a woman on Columbus avenue near 109th street.

He found Mrs. Alexander Shaffer of 106 West 108th street hysterically calling for help. She said a man who was running down the street had insulted her. The man when arrested said he was Harvey S. Benton, a bookkeeper, of 165 West 108th

In the West Side police court yesterday he denied having insulted Mrs. Shafier. As Policeman Palmer said that he could not learn that the man had insulted other women Magistrate Ommen let him off with fine of $3, which he paid. FINED ON GIRL'S SAY-SO.

Factory Proprietor Accused by a Discharged Woman Employee.

Arthur Sherwood, the proprietor of a pickle factory in Franklin street, was arraigned in the Tombs police court yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by Mabel Childs, 18 years old, of 408 West Forty-second street.

The complainant was employed in Sher-The complainant was employed in Sher-wood's factory until Monday, when she was discharged. She says it was because she refused Sherwood's advances.

Sherwood denied the charge and said that the girl threatened to get even with him when he discharged her.

Magistrate Flammer fined Sherwood $10. He is married and lives at 948 President street, Brooklyn. He is 32 years old.

FOOD FOR GAMBLERS.

Sandwiches Carried Nightly Into Noted

Horseshoe Mining Company, and Ignatius that the gamblers no longer keep food in their houses for their patrons Every night between 11 and 12 o'clock the gamblers call messenger boys and order 100 or 150 sandwiches. It is presumed that drink-ables are kept in the houses.

The other night a messenger boy carried a load of sandwiches into the Burbridge-Walbaum house in West Thirty-third street, with which Frank Farrell says he is not connected. The same thing has happened at "Big Frank" Feltman's in Thirty-first street and the Victoria Club in Thirtysecond street.

MRS. PHARES TURNS ON TAYLOR

SAYS SHE DID NOT LOVE MAN SHE CALLED "DEAR HUBBY."

Admits She Bought Polson, but Says It Was for Rats-Quietly Describes Her Husband's Death and Tells About Visit of Lover Immediately Thereafter.

MO NT HOLLY, N. J., July 2 .- The trial of Mrs. Annie Phares for the murder of her husband was resumed this morning with Mrs. Phares on the stand. She admitted buying strychnine in a drug store in Columous, but said she wanted it to rid her cellar of rats. Speaking of her husband's condition shortly before his death Mrs. Phares, with no display of emotion, said

"My husband was unable to eat much-The reason he assigned was that whenever he took any nourishment it caused nausea, followed by a convulsive movement of the limbs. Notwithstanding he seemed to grow steadily worse, he did not want medical aid. Finally I decided to disregard his wishes. So I sent for the doctor. Then I tried to get my husband upstairs, and finally succeeded, with the aid of another person. After he was in bed I gave him another dose of medicine, but it did not appear to bene fit him. Soon after that my husband died. I held his right hand as he passed away, and was bending over him.

"Soon after Garfield Taylor arrived, but I didn't send for him; nor did I know he was coming. Samuel Hilbert also came and went up in the bedroom with the doctor to look at the body. The doctor asked me if he had vomited anything green, and looked significantly at Gilbert. I had once yielded to Gilbert, but afterward forbade him the house. Gilbert once circulated a report I had attempted to poison my husband with paris green, and he threatened that in the event of my hus-band dying suddenly he would land me in jail. After my husband's death, Taylor also appeared, and would not leave until I had consented to renew my relations with him. On the Sunday prior to my husband's death I had told him of my trip to Camden with Taylor.

"My only motive in trying to secure employment for Taylor in Camden was that I might be rid of him. I never told him that I would rather live with him than with my husband. I did not give strych-nine or any other kind of poison to my husband or do anything to cause his death

On cross-examination:

Q. Didn't you threaten to leave your husband? A. No. Do you think I'd leave a man who was making $20 a week for a man who was not earning that much a month?

Q. Why did you write Taylor to buy a trunk for you? A. Because he owed me money and I thought that was the easiest way to get it. I didn't intend to leave my husband, as my letter might indicate. I merely said it to satisfy Taylor, who was continually urging me to do so.

Q. Did you love Garfield Taylor? A. No, I merely told him so to please him.

Q. Didn't the members of your family urge you to break off your relations with Taylor? A. They did. None of them liked him. They didn't think it was right for me to receive him at my home or meet him elsewhere. On cross-examination: Q. When was the last time Taylor invaded your home? A. On the day I was arrested.

Q. Was your husband's dead body in the adjoining room? A. It was. Persons who have been watching the Tenderloin gamblers have noticed of late

On the conclusion of the testimony for the defence the opening argument for the State was made by Prosecutor Atkinson, who said that he would insist that the testimony warranted a verdict of mur-der in the first degree. Eckard P. Budd, the defendant's counsel, followed with an elaborate argument, insisting that Phares died by his own hand.

The case will probably go to the jury to-morrow.
